WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Dengue fever, mosquito borne disease of warm climates, has occurred in so many states throughout the South as to constitute an epidemic, it was announced at headquarters of the public health service today.

The states of South Carolina, Florida, Georgia and Texas are the chief sufferers, according to incomplete figures gathered by health officials.

Surgeon General Hugh S. Cummings, of the public health service, however, minimized the seriousness of the epidemic.

"It rarely causes death," he said, "and even in such cases death is usually due to complications such as heart trouble and not to the disease itself."

Epidemic In Alabama.

(By International News Service)
MONTGOMERY, Oct. 3.—Dr. S. W. Welch, state health officer, when asked today about the spread of dengue fever in the state, said that he considers the disease to be epidemic, though in an exceedingly mild form, in the southern half of the state.

The disease will disappear with the first frost, Dr. Welch said, as frost spells death to the dengue carrying mosquito.

Few In Birmingham.

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 3.—Dr. J. C. Dowling, city health officer, when questioned this morning, stated there are sporadic cases being reported from different sections of the city, 12 new cases being reported yesterday. The disease is scattered, being confined to no particular locality.

NONE IN MORGAN COUNTY

"There are no cases at present of dengue fever in Morgan County," declared Dr. B. F. Austin, county health officer, this morning. "However, we are keeping on a sharp lookout for its appearance."

According to Dr. Austin, the disease, in many particulars, bears a striking resemblance to "break bone fever." The bones aches and the patient has some temperature, the health official declared.

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA DRIVE TO BE OPENED HERE THURSDAY

Local Alumni Invited to Dinner At The Lyons Hotel. Judge Black To Speak

The campaign for $1,000,000 for the University of Alabama will be opened formally here Thursday evening when a dinner for the alumni of the Twin Cities and neighboring cities will be served at the Lyons Hotel.

The speaker of the evening will be Judge Hugo Black, of Birmingham, and several local people are expected to make short talks, outlining the needs of the University.

According to an announcement today of John W. Knight, all alumni here are expected to attend the banquet. He requested all those who desired to attend and who had not already been communicated with by some of the committeemen, to give their names immediately to himself or to Will Wyker, Decatur chairman.

The campaign for additional funds for buildings and equipment at the University is attracting earnest interest throughout the state. The big increases in enrollment at the school are taxing the facilities of the institution to the utmost and it has become imperative that action be taken to alleviate the condition.

NEW ADMINISTRATIONS TAKE UP DUTIES OF CITY GOVERNMENT

Officials Sworn In At Meetings Of The Councils Of Albany And Decatur Last Night

Incoming administrations in the Twin Cities were sworn in last night and in Albany today almost an entire new set of executive officials were in charge of the municipality and in Decatur the old board of aldermen and Mayor James A. Nelson were entering upon another two year term.

The regular first of the month meeting of the Albany council was held Monday night at the council room of the city hall building, to hear reports of officials and the payment of accounts current. Mayor E. C. Payne submitted a general report of his administration of the affairs of the city government for the past two years, the report dealing specifically with the financial part of the administration. In a very appropriate short speech he expressed the high appreciation he held for the retiring members of the aldermanic board, and the splendid cooperation extending him by them in the discharge of the duties incumbent upon each. Then addressing the newly elected mayor and aldermen, tendered his good offices at any time they might deem his assistance necessary.

All the members of the new board were present, including the mayor, president of the city council and chief of police, and were sworn into their various offices by T. E. Williams, a notary public, and one years.

CHARLES SARVER TAKES OFFICE AS MAYOR OF ATHENS

First Meeting of New Board Held By Incoming Administration

ESTEP IS ELECTED AS ASSISTANT TO CHIEF SANITARY OFFICER AND STREET SUPERINTENDENT WILL BE APPOINTED

(By J. E. Blair)

ATHENS, Ala., Oct. 3.—The Athens City Hall presented an animated scene last night, it being the time for the seating and installation of the newly elected Mayor and the new city council.

Charles Sarver, the incoming Mayor, took his obligations following a few well-chosen remarks by the retiring Mayor, C. O. Johnston. The following aldermen were then installed:

First Ward—L. P. Cartwright, succeeding E. Denbo; Second ward—J. B. Sarver succeeding himself; R. H. Cole, succeeding J. H. Pontine; Fourth Ward—R. H. Richardson, Jr., succeeding M. A. Pope.

Alderman at large—Price W. Hendricks succeeding himself.

By unanimous vote William E. Estep was elected assistant to the chief of police who is R. L. Thomas, succeeding Walter Yarbrough, who had served as Chief for 16 years.

Owing to that fact that Mr. Thomas, who was Circuit Court Clerk having to resign that office in order to be sworn in as Chief of Police, George L. Sherrill, it was reported, would be appointed by Judges Kyle and Brickell to fill out Mr. Thomas' unexpired term. Mr. Sherrill is also the newly-chosen court clerk, and his regular term of service begins Jan. 1, 1923.

Mayor's Recommendations.

Following a short inaugural address and the naming of J. B. Sarver as Mayor Pro tem the following recommendations were made:

That an office known as "Superintendent of Streets and Sewerage System" be created and that said officer shall work and perform his duties under the instructions of the Mayor and the Chief of Police; that in the event of a dispute as to his duties the instructions of the Mayor shall prevail. It being the intention that the Chief of Police shall see that said officer performs his duties according to instructions issued by the Mayor. The duties generally, of the said officer shall be to repair and keep in order the streets, avenues, alleys and the surface and sanitary sewer system. To see that the streets are kept in proper repair; that all rubbish, trash and accumulations be removed from said streets, avenues, alleys, gutters and side walks, that the garbage is promptly removed and the sewerage system kept in order and in good working condition; that proper connections be made without damage to the streets, gutters or side walks; that property owners be forced to provide repositories for garbage and trash; that property owners be forced to keep their lots and premises free from unsightly deposits, rubbish, weeds and garbage; that said officer shall have police authority and make arrests, swear out complaints and perform any duty

MANY WOUNDED AS MONTGOMERY MOB FIRES UPON PRISON

Repeated Demonstrations Made During the Night By Angry Citizens

MILITIA AND FIREMEN DISPERSE THE CROWDS

Joe Terrell Wounded By Posse Which Caught Him Yesterday

(Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, Oct. 3.—Daylight revealed scars of vengeance of the mob which last night made repeated demonstrations in an effort to remove from the county prison Joe Terrell, alleged slayer of George Wilson, county game warden.

Prison walls are bullet marked by miscellaneous firing from the mob. Five men were injured during the night. They are: Rev. A. J. Stokes, negro minister, seriously wounded; Herbert Miller, painfully shot; Edward Peal, negro, fatally wounded by the mob; W. A. Warren, assaulted by policeman, not seriously hurt; James W. Prescott, accidentally shot and seriously wounded.

Militia and firemen with hose dispersed the mob at midnight.

Terrell was removed to another prison during the demonstration. He is suffering from a wound in the hip inflicted by members of the posse which captured him near Union Springs late yesterday.

The city is quiet today and no further trouble is anticipated. The grand jury has been called to meet in special session to investigate the case.

Terrell was moved to the Jefferson County prison later.

CITY UNDER GUARD.

(By International News Service)

MONTGOMERY, Oct. 3.—Montgomery was under guard of three companies of Alabama National Guard, one negro was dead from a gun shot wound, a white man was wounded by a bullet in the hip and dozens of negroes were suffering today from injuries received at the hands of a mob which late last night tried to storm the jail here and take possession of Joe Terrell, a negro, charged with having slain George Wilson, game warden, and wounding Joe Partin, deputy sheriff.

Terrell was captured 12 miles from Union Springs by officers who shot him in the leg before he was subdued. Wild excitement followed news of the capture and the Alabama National Guard was called out immediately.

An immense crowd surrounded the jail where Terrell was confined. A rope was drawn about approaches to the jail and no one allowed to cross a dead line.

Several negroes were seized and beaten. Some were dragged from street cars. The fighting assumed the proportions of a serious riot, but quieted later. The negro Terrell, contrary to early reports that he had been spirited away to another jail, is still in the county jail.

Officers on duty report the situation quiet with no further trouble expected.

FIRST WOMAN PUT IN THE SENATE BY GOVERNOR'S ORDER

(By International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 3.—Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, of Georgia, made history here today when he appointed Mrs. W. H. Felton of Cartersville, to the United States senate to succeed the late Thomas E. Watson.

Although Mrs. Felton is the first woman senator in the United States she will not take office because of the Georgia law which requires that the office be filled at the next general election. Mrs. Felton will not take office because the senate is not in session to administer the oath of office.

Mrs. Felton, one of the outstanding women of Georgia, is 87 years old and a prolific writer.

Simultaneously with the announcement of Mrs. Felton's appointment, Governor Hardwick announced he would be a candidate for the regular Democratic nomination to succeed Watson.

Still Captured By Raiding Party

State Law Enforcement Officers

Dill and Campbell brought in a still Saturday evening, having captured it on an island down the Tennessee river in Lawrence county. The still was a small one of only one barrel capacity. When the officers came upon the still, two men were observed. One of them made good his escape. The other one was brought to town and lodged in the county jail. At many places on the island the cane is so dense that it is almost impossible to see a man after he gets a few feet from the start and in this manner the other man escaped.

Heavy fighting is reported in Georgia in Trans-Caucasian.

HOPE RUNNING HIGH THAT MEETING WILL BRING ABOUT PEACE

Turkish Armistice Terms Are Admittedly Harsh But Are "Discussable"

UNITED STATES WILL CONTINUE NEUTRALITY

Will Engage In No "Threatening Gestures" The Cabinet Decides

(Associated Press)

PARIS, Oct. 3.—A cable dispatch from Smyrna, Turkish headquarters, said it is stated Kemalists have evacuated the neutral zone along the straits.

(By International News Service)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 3.—Despite the severity of the Turkish conditions, hope ran high today that the Mudanian conference would be successful in allaying the Near East war scare. The Turkish conditions, as originally outlined, were:

(1) Turkish gendarmes shall aid the allies in policing Thrace.

(2) Establishing of Turkish civil administration in Eastern Thrace.

(3) Evacuation of Thrace by Greek troops within eight days after the armistice is signed.

(4) Occupation of the Eastern bank of the Maritsa River by allied troops to protect Eastern Thrace from attacks by Greeks.

5. Turkish troops to continue to withdraw from neutral zone on the straits.

They have evacuated a strategic point southeast of Chanak, from which it was feared an attack would be launched against the British positions at Chanak.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Official announcement was made at the white house, following today's cabinet meeting, that the United States will indulge in no threatening gestures in a military way or diplomatically in the Near Eastern situation.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Turkish Nationalists today will lay before the Allies at Mudanian the terms on which they are willing to suspend military movement. The proposals include guarantees concerning the evacuation of Thrace by the Greeks, occupation of the territory by allied troops and the transfer of the civil administration to the Kemalist functionaries.

CONSIDER THE COW.

While we are continually paying tribute to the worth-while things of life, we are apt to forget some of the common place things which form a great part of our supply of sustenance and life-giving things. The cow has been the subject of well deserved commendation from time to time, but few realize what an important part she plays in supplying the life-giving things in every day use.

As a food, pure milk is recognized to be the best and most palatable form of food known. How often and how many underfed infants have been restored back to normal health by its use would be hard to compute. Invalids in all stages of disease have been benefitted from the use of pure milk and hastened on the road to recovery. The cow asks no greater reward than to be allowed to browse and feed upon the life giving pasturage with richer food at milking time, with the addition of water for her thirst.

In winter weather she should be well protected from the cold, and increased ration of rich food given that she may give up her life giving fluid.

In the early days of this country her sons the steers, furnished the power with which the farms were tended, and these also were used in the forests of the country to transport the timber for constructing the homes of the pioneers. In good times and bad times she shares her part with those whom she serves, and is always contented if her feed trough be full or scant. The cow should receive at all times a well balanced remuneration for the things which she so willingly gives up that others might be benefitted. As a singer she holds no record, but when it comes to delivering the real goods with which to sustain life, and give nourishment, and bring back again the rich life blood and restore health to the cheeks of invalids, she is strictly in the game.

Hurry and worry will burn the candle at both ends. Drop one or the other or both, for they are bad companions to take on any journey however short.

THE COUNTRY STORE.

The country store has always been more or less a place of "home made" philosophy, and many quaint characters have frequented these places where the folks from the country roundabout would come to obtain the necessary things for the household, and give in exchange the products of the farm and home. Many years ago the average country store was besides a store, a postoffice, and a general clearance house for all the transactions of that locality.

There was plenty of leisure time around these old places, and games of checkers or horse shoes was of daily occurrence. The small country store of the past, then considered a large building with a handful of goods, would today be counted one of the very small stores of this period. But in that time it answered the purpose admirably.

The goods were carried to the store from the railroad station or boat landing, in many instances many miles away. In the stores of that period there was kept genuine sugar house molasses, the like of which cannot be found now. It was pure and unadulterated. There was linsey and cotton plaids; jeans and cotton worsteds; brogan shoes with brass caps on the toe of them, and everybody knew how to knit wool socks and there was always a supply at the country store.

THE WORD GENIUS.

Genius has been defined as the line where some leave off and others take up and pursue. This is frequently demonstrated as a fact. Take it on the farm for instance: A man is pursuing the avocation of a farmer. He makes a failure. Another steps in his stead and with the same land, the same stock and plows, and under the same conditions rises from the soil by intelligent action, bountiful harvests. The same elements and material things were at hand as in the former case, the mode of procedure was different, and therein lies the secret. The same thing applies in other fields of activity. Then genius would seem the ability of one to take up and pursue, being possessed with a determination which would surmount the difficulties in the way and thereby achieve the desired end.

Memory stretches over the expanse of the years and mingles with age. The lost chords are constantly vibrating, and ever and anon there comes on the swift wings of thought some place or thing which strikes a vibrating note, and the melody which emanates from it is music to the soul and fills the vacancy which the years make. The years go by; in their swift flight the scenes of time change, and before the camera of life, there is made the impression on the sensitive film, and the picture is developed in all its beauty and loveliness. Rob humanity of the faculty of memory, and the lane of life becomes a barren waste, with desert places all along the way, and feet already tired with the numerous paths already trod, are persuaded to give up and refuse to go further.

The confidence man is never happier than when he meets the fellow who simply knows it all. He is then close to a fertile working place where the results are sure.

When I'm dead and in my grave,
Still watermelon will I crave;

And let the juice come leakin'

Oh, Johnny.

Now listen well, a tale I'll tell
How Johnny owned a flivver.
He had no need of tonics now
For heart or lungs or liver.
He took his girl to ride one day.
The tale it is distressing,
For this the price John had to pay
For carelessly caressing.

He held her hand with one of his,
Steered Lizzie with the other;
She headed for a tin can dump
As for a long lost brother.
They landed with an awful bump,

And from their dreams descended,
To find their blissful journey thus Disastrously had ended.
A junk man offered him ten cents;
He quickly said, "Yow take her,"

While he was gone his girl eloped
In a light six Studebaker.

The moral this is plainly seen;
Be careful when you're sporting,
A speeding car is no safe place
To do your autumn coating.

it for six months and its new, but three days after you get it it's a used car.

John—"Gosh, was that what that was? I took the clock apart and got it in."

We are always talking about it but honestly I never saw a bull

Baking Powder— that's the big thing in successful baking

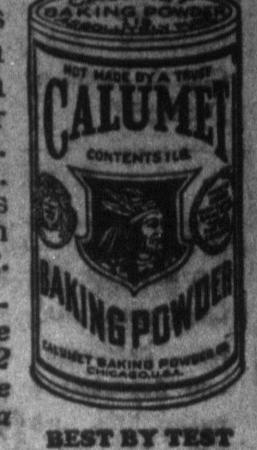

It determines failure or success in baking, more than any other ingredient.

If you do not always have satisfactory bakes, change to Calumet for just one trial.

It is pure, containing only such ingredients as have been officially approved by U. S. Food Authorities.

Within the Calumet factories—the largest and most sanitary on earth—hundreds of skilled workers clad in white are busily engaged in producing the baking powder that is used by millions. Human hands never touch it. Its sale is 2½ times as much as that of any other brand. Pure in the making—pure in the baking.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

FOURTH CASUALTY
IN RACE TROUBLE

Hartselle News

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 3.—Special.—James W. Prescott, white, is at a local infirmary with a gaping wound in his chest as the result of an accidental discharge of an automatic shot gun while he and others were searching for the slayer of George S. Wilson, special agent of the state conservation department. The accident occurred late last night near Snowdown.

Prescott is the fourth casualty which has resulted from trouble between whites and negroes in Montgomery County during a month. He had joined a raiding party in the hope of finding Joe Terrill, who shot Wilson. The party had arrested a negro on suspicion and when the negro was examined the gun was accidentally discharged. Surgeons fear Prescott cannot recover.

The trouble between whites and negroes started about a month ago when Herbert L. Hardy, young white man of Oldtown, near Selma, was shot to death following a collision between his automobile and the machine driven by a negro on the Montgomery-Selma road. The negro escaped and has never been found. His automobile is now in the possession of the sheriff.

The second casualty was Albert Sansom, mounted policeman, who was killed instantly while searching for James Glenn, negro fireman of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, Thursday night. Glenn escaped and is still at liberty.

The third casualty was George S.

Wilson who was shot by Joe Terrill while he and other officers were searching for Sansom's slayer Saturday night.

The fourth casualty was Prescott, who had joined the raiding party in the search for Terrill.

ADDITIONAL CABLE
LINES ARE ERECTED

Between six and seven thousand dollars is being spent by the Southern Bell Telephone Company here in the erection of additional cable lines.

A crew of men, under the direction of Tobe Smith, today is busy with the task of erecting a line from West Albany and another from Fairview. The completion of the improvements, it is understood, will accomplish much toward relieving congestion on the two lines, but still more cables will be necessary before the company reaches 100 per cent service, it was said.

It is expected that as soon as material is available, other improvements on cable lines will be made.

HARTSELLE, Ala., Oct. 3.—The County Board at its meeting on the last Friday in September set the length of the school term for all public schools, except such as have the special three mill tax, to be five months or more. It being impossible to definitely fix the term until the state certifies the amount of money coming to the county.

All the schools will open on Monday, Oct. 16, and all teachers will be required to attend the Institute at the city school in Hartselle, Oct. 13th and 14th. The compulsory attendance period was set by the County Board for the 100 days beginning with the 16th of October. All children from eight to sixteen years of age are required to attend the full 100 days.

Hardage has accepted a place in the coaching corps there and will have direct charge of the backfield men. He will try to inoculate the Vandy backfield candidates with the germ of football progress and to instill in their minds and muscle the same shifty, twisting, squirming stride which carried Hardage across thousands of white chalked yardage lines and made him one of the best ground gainers the South ever produced.

Upon their return they will be at home to their friends in Albany where they will make their future home.

WRITES ABOUT The Line of Fate

MRS. PETIT was to me, in my childhood, the embodiment of Fate. She did not weave, but she had a great pair of shears which the children were forbidden to touch and her main employment was knitting. In and out of her knitting she wove the visions and the tales of the countryside. For weal or woe the threads ran—and as the old lady knitted, she talked.

One of her favorite comments was:

"What will be, will be, and what has been, wuz."

It has more than once come into my mind—that well-worn piece of philosophy of the woman with the knitting work. I remember when it dawned upon me that Mrs. Petit in her philosophy belongs to the order of fatalists.

Fate was the only explanation to her of the labyrinth we call "life." If you sought to argue with her, it was in vain. For a time she would listen and talk, but at the end she would sum up her creed and comment on life here and hereafter, and there was a sort of finality in her:

Protesting, complaining, I have often been driven to the conclusion of this ancient wielder of the shears and knitting-needles. But I have tried to give it a less fearsome meaning than the one I used to put in it. If what will be, will be—we can do something to force sense and good into it before the time comes when we stop to mourn or to rejoice over our part in the play.

There was a boy in our school who liked to tempt Fate in the shape of the teacher, but even he had not compromised with himself and evaded what seemed to be the certainty of punishment. In his reading and spelling, John Henry was perfect. But in arithmetic he was poor and in geography fair, and then fair only when the lesson was about Africa or some of the uttermost mysteries of Asia. Something, in short, in which John Henry could take an interest. When his mother warned him to study his schoolbooks, all she got from her son was the repetition of Mrs. Petit's favorite bit of philosophy.

It came to be, if not a belief, a superstition with John Henry and some of his schoolmates—this belief in Fate. And it hampered them more than can be described. No one can do his best with the first delusion that nothing worth while can be accomplished by that work. It is true there is sometimes a grim resolution to be argued with, some teacher or parent who refuses to let any learner get the wrong end of the riddle of life.

There are the more graceful ways of falling down and of picking yourself up, if worst comes to worst.

It is left for us to choose what will be, in some measure. And when the inevitable appears to make the best of it and to keep a bright lookout. You cannot advise me, perhaps—I cannot advise you as to the intimate things of your life.

It is only the broad principles which can be enunciated, and then we must each take from them—in application to our daily lives—what we have learned along the way. If it is the inevitable truth that what has been was—we can still have something to say about what will be.

This is the only way to take "the line of Fate."
